From the Principal

Dear Families

Australian Josephite Secondary Schools Principals

Last week I attended the Association of Josephite Affiliated Secondary Schools (AJASS) Conference in Sydney. It was a great opportunity to share with other Principals who are also working in Australian or New Zealand secondary schools with a Josephite tradition. There are currently 38 schools throughout Australia and New Zealand who have joined AJASS in an attempt to understand better the Josephite charism and live it out in today's world. We had the opportunity to visit the site of Kincumber. The Sisters of Saint Joseph have maintained an important link to Kincumber since Mary MacKillop and the Sisters first established this site as a home for boys in 1887.

Our own Sr Catherine Mead spoke at the AJASS Conference about the role of Josephite Education and looking to the future. Sr Catherine is completing her doctorate on Educational Leadership in the Josephite Tradition. Her research identifies some of the key characteristics in Josephite Education: our Founding Story especially Mary MacKillop and Julian Tension Woods, our core values and beliefs including compassion, dignity, love, charity, justice and inclusion.

The ongoing question for us is how to witness the Gospel news through the Josephite charism in our world today.

Students' Weld the Way...

Competition was intense when Mount Carmel College's Certificate II Engineering students from Rosewater Trade Training Centre visited TAFE SA's Advanced Welder Training Centre.

TAFE SA's new state of the art Advanced Welder Training Centre is now delivering training following the installation of 12 welding simulators, which are the most advanced simulators of their kind in the world. The new simulators will ensure that local welders are ready to respond to the increased demand for their skills as part of the naval shipbuilding program and in advanced manufacturing.

The virtual and augmented reality welding technology increases the rate of engagement in learning and allows students and lecturers to analyse and review welding techniques and performance in a digital environment. The result is that students then perform more effectively in the live workshop environment. The advanced training technology at TAFE SA Regency, which includes virtual reality helmets, will be utilised to support new apprentices embarking on a career in fabrication and current welders, seeking to refresh and refine their skills.

The Centre will particularly support apprentices in Certificate III in Engineering – Fabrication Trade (MEM30305). This TAFE SA qualification was the first in Australia to be endorsed last year by the Naval Shipbuilding College as having requisite welding content suitable for the Naval Shipbuilding industry.

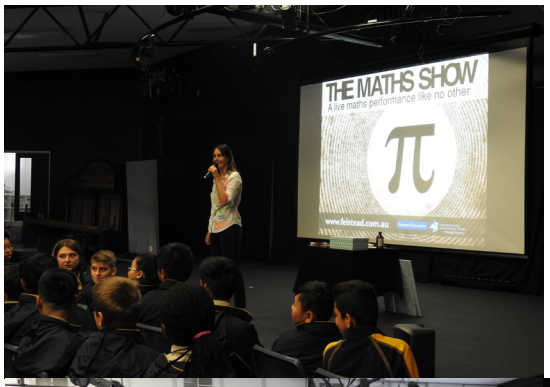
Please Note: Individual and Group Photos will be distributed Week 1, Term 3.

The Maths Show



On Wednesday 5 June the Year 7 and 8 students watched “The Maths Show” live performance by Felstead productions. Students took part in and tried to explain some mathematical magic ”tricks”, learnt about the history of counting, were introduced to some famous and some not so famous, Mathematicians from Ancient Babylon and Greece, listened to the stories of some famous women of Maths, participated in an interactive probability game and were challenged with the 7 bridges of Konigsberg problem.

Thank you for your support.

Stage 2 Trial Examinations

A letter was sent home with students this week in regards to the Year 12 trial examinations programmed for the first three days of Week 1, Term 3. These three days will provide an opportunity for students to engage in either two or three hour examinations at Stage 2 level, which will serve as a worthwhile experience as they continue to move towards the official SACE exams in October/November.

As the trial examinations are being held directly after the Term 2 holidays, it is an expectation that students will use their holiday time to prepare for their exams. Stage 2 teaching staff will be preparing students with revision materials and outlining their expectations accordingly.

Students who do not have examined subjects, but wish to attend school on these days to work quietly in the supervised study room, are most welcome.

The full schedule for trial exams is below.

Please note that regular Year 12 lessons resume on Thursday, 25 July.

Some housekeeping points:

- Trial Exams will run from Monday, 22 July until Wednesday, 24 July.
- All students must sign in and out from school through the student office during the trial examination period.
- There are two exam sessions each day, a morning session and a mid-morning/afternoon session.
- Morning Examinations: Students enter the exam room at 8.40am, exam begins at 8.50am.
- Mid-Morning/Afternoon Examinations: Students enter the exam room at 12.50pm, exam begins at 1.00pm.
- Students must arrive at the allocated examination room 10 minutes prior to entering the room. This will allow time for students to organise materials needed.
- If students have more than one exam on the same day they must remain at school between exams.
- Only permitted materials may be taken into the exam rooms. No pencil cases or reading materials may be taken in. No food or drink may be taken in, except for a bottle of water (recommended).
- If more than 40 minutes late, the student will not be permitted to enter the exam room.
- No students will be permitted to leave the exam room prior to the finishing time.
- Students must wear full school winter uniform during the exam week.

University Open Days - August

Who should go to open days?
Short answer: Everyone.

Well that is to say anyone who is planning on a tertiary education (and that includes TAFE and VET of course).

You might think Year 12s are the only people who should go to Open Days. But if you're in Years 10 & 11 and thinking about Uni, you could benefit from going to open days now too.

Parents wanting to learn more, and support their children's wishes to continue studying after high school, are welcome as well. Mature students, friends and siblings, the doors are open for everyone.

Unless you're adamant that you're starting an apprenticeship or your career as soon as you leave high school, then you'll definitely benefit from spending some time at open days.

Are you:
Unsure about Uni?
Great, go along to open days, see how the lifestyle might suit you, see if the courses and the staff inspire you, speak to current students to get their opinion (they'll be honest about the best and worst parts about further education).

Whether you leave feeling excited about going to Uni or deciding it's definitely not for you, at least you'll be certain.

Unsure about which course?
Struggling to decide which course to do, what has the best career outcomes?

The good folk at Uni will be able to answer all your questions. Reassure you about your choices or suggest alternatives that could suit you better.

Unsure about which Uni?
If you know what course you'd like to do but can't decide between two or more Uni's, then the absolute best way to decide is to pay them a visit.

One might have better facilities, a more exciting course, internship or work opportunities. Maybe it'll just come down to which campus you felt more comfortable in or which staff were more welcoming.

Sure about your options?
You're 100% decided on which Uni you want to go and which course you'll be listing at the top of your preferences – well done you, you're in a fantastic position right now.

Why not go along to the open day anyway – familiarise yourself with the campus, see what accommodation is available, check out the social scene and speak with the lecturers and staff you'll be working with next year.

Please see Mrs Kelly Peucker in the Transition Pathways Office for more information and application forms if you are interested in these or any other VET programs.
